THE RITUALS OF CONVOCATION

The procession of the graduands in plain black gowns and of faculty and officers of the University in colourful and varied regalia; the blue-robed Bedel with his ornate silver Mace; the conferring of degrees by the Chancellor; these are among the rituals of Convocation that stand in a tradition that has a history of more than 700 years.

The University's Mace is carried to and from the Convocation platform by the University Bedel and during the ceremony is splendidly displayed on the Mace Table, resting on a velvet cushion. The cushion is maroon with a piping of grey, the McMaster colours. The Mace symbolizes the authority of the University Senate to confer degrees, this authority being exercised by the Chancellor.

Bedels were functionaries and maces were weapons hundreds of years before universities emerged in the 12th and 13th centuries. So it is that McMaster's Bedel carries the University Mace directly in front of the Chancellor, symbolically to protect her.

The Chancellor sits on a massive oak ceremonial chair that bears a carved representation of an early version of the University Seal. She requests that members of the graduating classes rise from their seats and then admits them to their respective degrees. The graduating classes are then invited to join the Chancellor on stage. Once a graduate's name is called, they are hooded facing the audience, and then are congratulated and welcomed to the community of scholars by the Chancellor and President.

The academic hood is symbolic of admission to a university degree and carries colours specific to a particular degree. It is derived from clothing worn in medieval times, when a hood was similar to that of a modern parka and served the same purpose of protection in inclement weather. The hood that the Registrar or pro-Registrar deftly puts over a graduand's head is a link to the dress of students of at least seven centuries ago.

The backdrop to the Convocation platform displays McMaster's Coat of Arms. The symbol of the stag and tree, constituting the crest of these Arms, was the personal emblem of Senator William McMaster, whose munificent benefaction made possible the founding of the University in 1887. Handcrafted by Dorothy Gregson and Margaret Wallace, this banner celebrated 30 years of service at McMaster Convocation ceremonies in 2014.

The President of the University attends Convocation but it is the Chancellor, the titular head of the University, who presides over this ancient ceremonial. Her seniority is indicated by her robe being more elegant than the President's. The President relieves the Chancellor of making announcements, may present an honorary graduand for his or her degree and, as Vice-Chancellor, confers degrees when the Chancellor is unable to do so.

A Chancellor, Vice-Chancellor, Bedel and Registrar share with a seal, mace, colours, robes and coat of arms a history of hundreds of years of association with universities. Each of these traditional inheritances is a part of McMaster University and all of them come together on the platform of its Convocations.

The University Mace was a gift in 1950 from the class of 1900

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Convocation is an exciting time in the calendar of any university; a time to celebrate achievement, to reflect on the past, and to anticipate the future and the path that lies ahead. It also represents a time of liberation, the ending of one phase of life and a last, symbolic statement of the discipline to which students have been required to submit themselves throughout their studies.

While it is impossible at such events not to celebrate the infinite promise of individual lives, it is important to be aware of the communal significance of convocation. In the ancient English universities, convocation was the legislative body that oversaw operations of the institution, and to be admitted to a degree was to be admitted to membership. By extension, therefore, convocation was a reaffirmation of not an individual but a joint enterprise.

Students today have learned the importance of collaboration and partnership, and more than ever understand that the future health, prosperity and cultural vitality of our society depends upon our ability to cooperate, to act together, and to learn from one another. My fervent hope is that graduating students will see their convocation not as an end of growing together, but rather as an opportunity for deepening that process. As alumni they will have many opportunities to renew existing partnerships, and they will be well prepared to forge new ones in the greater community beyond our own.

Personal fulfillment through community: this is indeed one of the longstanding paradoxes of university life, but it is surely also a sound principle for us all to pursue in the world at large. In wishing today's graduating students good luck, I feel great confidence in our joint future and great anticipation of everything that, collectively, they will achieve.

Patrick Deane
President and Vice-Chancellor

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION GREETINGS

On behalf of your fellow McMaster alumni, I offer you sincere congratulations for having successfully earned your degree. In addition to growing through the challenges of obtaining your formal education, I hope you have taken full advantage of everything McMaster has to offer outside the walls of the classroom.

As an alumnus or alumna you are entering a new phase in your relationship with McMaster. Graduation is merely a milestone in your life-long association with our University. As alumni, you can play a continuing role as supporters of McMaster's excellence by sharing your time, expertise, and enthusiasm with your alma mater.

As your Alumni Association, we are committed to providing you with many opportunities to maintain and grow your links with McMaster. McMaster's alumni network, events, offerings, experiences, and programs will be great resources in your post-degree endeavours. I welcome you to the next step in a rewarding and dynamic relationship with our world-class university.

Sandra Stephenson '78
President, McMaster Alumni Association

SUZANNE B. LABARGE

Chancellor, McMaster University

A native of Ottawa, Dr. Labarge holds a Bachelor of Arts degree in economics from McMaster University and a Master of Business Administration from the Harvard Business School.

Dr. Labarge joined Royal Bank in 1971 and held a variety of positions within the bank prior to being appointed an executive officer in 1979. She left the bank in 1985 to join the federal government as assistant auditor-general where she was responsible for a report on Financial Management and Control in the Government of Canada.

She joined the Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions Canada in 1987 as deputy superintendent, policy responsible for developing regulatory policies for Canadian financial institutions. She was a member of the BIS Committee for Bank Supervision. In her last position as deputy superintendent, deposit-taking institutions, Dr. Labarge was responsible for all matters relating to deposit-taking institutions.

Dr. Labarge returned to the bank as executive vice-president, Corporate Treasury, in April 1995. She assumed the role of chief risk officer in October 1998 and was appointed vice-chairman and chief risk officer in February 1999. She retired from that position in December 2004.

Dr. Labarge is a member of the Board of Directors and Chair of the Audit Committee of Coca-Cola Enterprises. She also serves on the Board of Directors, the Audit Committee and the Risk and Finance Committee of XL Group and is trustee for a Canadian family trust and director of associated companies. She has served as a member of the Supervisory Board and Risk Committee of Deutsche Bank, as a director and chair of the audit committee of Novelis Inc and was also a member of the Board of the Bank of China, Beijing.

She served on the Board of Governors for McMaster University for twelve years. She was appointed Chancellor of McMaster University in Sept. 2013. She also serves on the board of the Ontario Brain Institute.

She was granted an honorary Doctor of Letters degree from McMaster University and is a recipient of the Queen's jubilee medal.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENTS

Faculties of Business, Engineering, Humanities, Social Sciences, and the Arts and Science Program (Morning Ceremony)

Bill Wilkerson, Doctor of Laws

Bill Wilkerson is one of Canada's most influential mental health advocates and the co-founder of the Global Business and Economic Roundtable on Addiction and Mental Health, a national non-profit organization that advocates – with great success – for corporate investment in the mental health of the workforce. He is the executive chairman of Mental Health International, another non-profit he co-founded to support strong workplace mental health policies and practices in Canada and beyond.

Wilkerson is a founding fellow of the Institute for Mental Health at the University of British Columbia, serves as chairman of the US/Canada Forum on Mental Health and Productivity, and is the Canadian chairman for the Kennedy Forum launched by US Congressman Patrick Kennedy. Wilkerson, who has served as a sworn civilian advisor to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, is also chairman of a European initiative called Focus on Depression in the Workplace. He has received almost every significant Canadian award for mental health advocacy.

Wilkerson began his career as a journalist before joining the federal civil service and then working in corporate communications with organizations including the CBC and the Royal Bank of Canada. He was co-owner and president of the crisis management firm CorpWorld Group and then the president of Liberty Health before devoting himself full time to his efforts in workplace mental health.

Faculties of Health Sciences and Science (Afternoon Ceremony)

Simon Levin, Doctor of Science

Simon Levin is the George M. Moffett Professor of Biology in the Princeton University Department of Ecology & Evolutionary Biology. He is also the founding director of the Princeton Environmental Institute and the director of the Center for BioComplexity. The author of Fragile Dominion: Complexity and the Commons, Levin is a mathematical biologist. He played a foundational role in transforming ecology into a quantitative, dynamically based science and he has been at the forefront of a broad effort to build dynamical models encompassing both ecological and social-economic dynamics. His work helps reveal what makes ecological, financial and economic systems vulnerable to collapse and he is a leader in the study of managing public goods and common-pool resources.

Levin has received a number of international awards including the Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts and Sciences' Heineken Prize for Environmental Sciences, the Kyoto Prize for Basic Sciences, the Ramon Margalef Prize of Ecology from the Government of Catalonia, and the Tyler Prize for Environmental Achievement. In the United States, his awards include the Ecological Society of America's Robert H. MacArthur Award, the Eminent Ecologist Award from the Ecological Society of America, and the Distinguished Scientist Award from the American Institute of Biological Sciences. He is a member of the US National Academy of Sciences and a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Society for Industrial and Applied Mathematics, among other societies.

GOVERNOR GENERAL'S ACADEMIC MEDAL

Lord Dufferin, Canada's third Governor General after Confederation, created the Academic Medals in 1873 to encourage academic excellence across the nation. The Governor General's Academic Medal recognizes the graduate students graduating with the highest academic standing.

Faculty of Science (Afternoon Ceremony)

Dr. Jenna Gillen

Jenna Gillen completed her PhD under the supervision of Dr. Martin Gibala in the Department of Kinesiology. Jenna's research interests lie at the intersection of basic mechanisms of exercise-induced physiological remodeling and the implications for human health. Her doctoral research has enhanced our understanding of adaptations to interval exercise training, and the findings have challenged traditional views on the optimal exercise prescription for improving health. Jenna has published 17 peer-reviewed articles, including several studies that attracted international media attention. Her ability and potential has been recognized with numerous institutional, national and international awards. Jenna recently received the Graduate Student Award from the Canadian Society for Exercise Physiology. She has also received prestigious salary awards from two different Tri-Council agencies: an NSERC Vanier Canada Graduate Scholarship supported her doctoral studies and Jenna has been awarded a CIHR Postdoctoral Fellowship for tenure at the University of Michigan starting in January 2016.

CHANCELLOR'S GOLD MEDAL

Established in 1938, the Chancellor's Gold Medal is awarded to the undergraduate student in his or her final year who ranks highest in scholarship, leadership and influence.

Arts & Science Program (Morning Ceremony)

Kira Feldman

Kira Feldman is a fourth-year student in the Arts & Science Program. She has excelled in courses across a wide range of disciplines, and has been recognized for her academic achievement with the Gilmour Memorial Scholarship, the Dr. Harry Lyman Hooker Scholarship, the Marguerite Z. Yates Scholarship, and others. Kira currently serves as a Teaching Assistant in ARTSSCI 3A06 / Literature, and an active member of the Arts & Science Student Executive. She is the co-president of Threadwork, a club dedicated to promoting sustainability activism through craft. She also volunteers with an organization that offers anonymous emotional support to McMaster students. Off campus, Kira has contributed to research at Mt. Sinai Hospital, Baycrest Health Sciences, CAMH, and at UCSB's Neuroscience Research Institute. Along with her academic endeavours, these experiences have inspired her to pursue a career in geriatric psychiatry.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI

The Distinguished Alumni Award recognizes McMaster University graduates who have attained a high level of distinction and achievement through scholarship, research, teaching, creative contributions to the arts or sciences and/or service to society. This Award is intended to honour alumni whose accomplishments and contributions are of national and/or international significance, and/or have had a seminal or transformative impact on their field of endeavour.

Faculties of Health Sciences and Science (Afternoon Ceremony)

Dr. Michael Baird

Michael Baird graduated from McMaster as senior class president and as one of the country's top sprinters. He is now an emeritus professor in the Department of Chemistry at Queen's University where he established an international reputation for his research in organometallic chemistry, for developing novel protocols for synthesizing and studying thermally unstable compounds, and for making significant advances in the study of catalysts. The holder of ten patents, Baird has received the Catalysis Award and the Alcan Lecture Award from the Chemical Institute of Canada.

Baird is a decorated teacher who won the Chemistry Department Student Council Prize for Excellence in Teaching a record five times at Queen's. He is a member of both the McMaster Athletics Hall of Fame and the Queen's Athletics Coaches Hall of Fame.

Faculties of Business, Engineering, Humanities, Social Sciences, and the Arts and Science Program (Morning Ceremony)

Dr. Stan Kutcher

A three-time McMaster graduate, Stan Kutcher is the Sun Life Financial Chair in Adolescent Mental Health at the IMK Health Centre, a professor in Dalhousie University's Department of Psychiatry, and the director of the International Psychiatry Section at Dalhousie. He is also the director of the World Health Organization Collaborating Centre in Mental Health Policy and Training Development.

Kutcher, who has served as editor of Child and Adolescent Psychopharmacology News, is a distinguished fellow of the Canadian Psychiatric Association. His list of honours received includes the Jack Cleghorn Award, the Dr. John Savage Memorial Award for outstanding humanitarian contributions to global health, the Canadian College of Neuropsychopharmacology Gold Medal, the Lifetime Achievement Award of the Canadian Psychiatric Research Foundation, and the John Ruedy Award for Innovation in Medical Education.

VALEDICTORIANS

Graduates who have pre-ordered degree frames and gifts from the McMaster Campus Store website may pick up their items in Wentworth Room A when the ceremony is complete and their gowns have been returned. Your degree will be framed in this location.

For those who have purchased a degree frame today before the ceremony, or would like to purchase a degree frame after the ceremony please visit the main lobby where the Campus Store offers a wide selection of Official McMaster University degree frames, crested giftware and limited edition Class of 2015 merchandise. A representative from Josten's will be on hand before and after all graduation ceremonies to help size and design the perfect ring for your graduate. Complementary degree framing also takes place in the lobby area.
